

We Have Elementary, Middle And High School Editions
And A STEM Book For Students

Building Blocks to Leadership for Young Boys of Color

by

Steve P. Jefferson, Ed. D. & David Morrow, Ed. D.

CONTACT US

Urban Literacy Project facilitators are ready to support you and your students as you progress toward your school's goals. Please call us for an appointment or to answer any questions at

(909) 263-2140

Dr. David Morrow (direct)

Email Us at

urbanliteracyinfo@gmail.com

Visit Our Website at

www.urbanliteracyproject.org

Urban Literacy Project

Dr. David Morrow, Co-Founder, Facilitator

Dr. Steve Jefferson, Co-Founder

Ms. Joyce Clarke, Dir. Of Logistics &
Programs/Facilitator

WHAT YOUR SCHOOL WILL RECEIVE

Urban Literacy Project facilitators will partner with you in designing a program for students you choose which will support your teachers' efforts, impact an improvement in grades, address socialization, and includes cultural enrichment to foster diversity, inclusion and equity. At program's end your school will receive evidence-based outcomes. Our research shows that two days a week during or after school with a core group of students yields the most positive outcomes at the end of each semester.

Specialists in the educational field will work with students you select who may benefit from support in the following areas:

- Tutoring/study skills
- Time management/goal setting
- Career Exploration
- Leadership building blocks discussions
- Academic enrichment
- Socialization roundtables
- Cultural appreciation and enrichment
- Guest speakers
- And more

www.urbanliteracyproject.org

WHO WE ARE

Urban Literacy Project (ULP) offers a Mentoring Program for your school, improving outcomes of elementary, middle and high school students with academics and social-emotional learning. Students are exposed to our LEADERSHIP FOR BOYS OF COLOR PROGRAM which provides cultural and career awareness through speakers and activities. We are a curriculum-based program using a building blocks workbook with supports and activities that align with State Standards.

OUR RESOURCES

A companion to each student's text, ULP uses Building Blocks to Leadership for Boys of Color Workbook written by ULP educators, Dr. Steve P. Jefferson Ed.D and Dr. David Morrow Ed.D. Contents include lessons using Bloom's taxonomy, KWL chart, essay writing, vocabulary building and more.

Our Building Blocks to Leadership for Boys of Color book collection includes:

- Student Workbook (elementary, middle and high school editions)
- Teacher's Edition
- English Edition
- Spanish Edition
- STEM Curriculum, Green Technology & Sustainable Energy Edition
- Building Blocks to Leadership reader: Discusses issues and topics for possible solutions boys of color face in today's society.

New- Now you can purchase a license for this program. Urban Literacy Inc. will train your trainers to facilitate the program. Licenses can be purchased for one quarter-one year. Tailor the program to what time works in your school day. You can decide which students go into and come out of it.

QUALIFICATIONS

Dr. Morrow has extensive experience as a classroom teacher, credentialed public school counselor (Professional Clear Pupil Personnel Credential), credentialed public school administrator (Assistant Principal and Principal w/Professional Clear Administrative Services Credential), and District Director, international experience working with teachers and the education ministers in China, West Indies, Spain (Madrid/Barcelona), and the Philippines

Dr. Jefferson is the Executive Director of the Los Angeles Academy of Media & Technology Inc., a non-profit organization that has partnered on projects with ABC-Disney's Talent Diversity Program to provide inner-city children opportunities to work with established Hollywood writers, directors and producers to create short films. He is also the co-founder of three adult learning charter schools Home Sweet Home Youth Build, Pasadena Youth Build and Academy of Media & Technology. Dr. Jefferson served as President of the USC International Public Policy & Business Association and was a member of Harvard University Graduate School of Education Principal's Center.

Quotes from satisfied students and schools

"The Leadership Program has taught me better study habits" - Micah W., Ramona High.

"I am not afraid to speak in front of my friends after learning to use Socratic Discourse." - Frank W, Sierra M.S.

"This is a great program you have for the students." - Narvell Hooks, Guest Speaker.

"We are pleased with the improvements in our 9th grade boys' grades and social maturity, thanks to ULP." - Ramona High Counselor